Mock U.N. To Be Held On Campus

The Mock United Nations, under the sponsorship of the Student Affairs Committee, is being held on the BYU campus in the Y Center on Feb. 17 and 18. It will be for BYU students' faculty only.

Discussions of the current events and problems of the world will be the main feature of the Wednesday evening will be featured speaker and meeting of the General Assembly, Security Council, and the International Court of Justice will be concluded Thursday.

All members of the student body are encouraged to participate in this activity, and those having had previous experience in the U.N. activities in high school and/or college are especially invited.

Meetings for all those interested, who have not already signed up, will be held Thursday p.m. in 124 Knight Bldg. Country assignments and times places of future meetings will be posted outside 258 McKay a.m. Friday.

One of the main purposes of Mock U.N. is to help the students become more aware of the world situation and how it has both succeeded and failed. The display of the U.N.'s functions and bodies is on the Main of the Library. Further information may be obtained by Mrs. Lynne Cannon, 373-2564.

1,000 Students Registered for Spring Term

A total of 15,234 students registered for spring semester during Monday and Tuesday at the Smith Fieldhouse, according to Bill Sampson, Director of Registration.

Director Sampson reports that everyone co-operated excellently and the Registration place very smoothly. He also said that Tuesday was the largest single day of registration in history with 8,381 students registering.

Many are being made to use a new registration for the Summer. As far as future improvements are concerned, according to Director Sampson, the facilities of a computer registration are being investigated. HE ADDED that until time as a suitable system is developed the Fieldhouse type of registration will be continued with no improvements. He stated the Fieldhouse registration system has been proven that it can accommodate necessary numbers of students and will be continued for reason.

Presently there are 2,114 day students and 1,002 evening students enrolled in evening of according to Rene Webb, School Office. School Office registration in evening school has been in process on a new system made plan for 10 days to people in the community to participate more fully.

Peter, Paul and Mary, recording artists, will be featured in the Winter Carnival Concert. Tickets go on sale Mon.

'Tosca' To Be Staged By Y Opera Workshop

BYU's Opera Workshop will open Monday, Feb. 5, with Puccini's dramatic opera Tosca. This is the first of several operas for the 1963 Opera Workshop.

THE PRODUCTION will be staged in the Concert Hall of the Harris Fine Arts Center. Performances will also be given Thursday through Saturday, Feb. 11-13. All performances begin at 8:15 p.m.

Tosca is acclaimed as one of Puccini's greatest operas, and is a favorite among opera lovers who have been swayed by the power and magic of its music. The opera is based on French dramatist Sardou's tragedy of passion and revenge.

THE OPERA will feature two separate casts, each playing two nights. Monday and Friday nights will feature the faculty cast, with Margaret Woodward starring as Tosca. Thursday and Saturday nights will feature a student cast with senior Ariel Bybee as Tosca.

The BYU Symphony Orchestra will be conducted by Lawrence Sardon. Opera Workshop Director Brandt Curtis will direct both casts.

ELABORATE SETS for the opera have been created by set designer Charles Henson. They make extensive use of the outstanding technical equipment in the new theater including a hydraulic pit and panoramic cyclorama.

Other roles to be played by faculty members include Gary Fisher as Cavardossi, Noel Twitchell as Scarpia, Gordon Mills as Scarpina, Duane Huff as Angelotti and Charles Shipp as Spoletto.

TICKETS FOR the performances may be obtained from the Fine Arts Ticket Office at F-393, HFAC. Student body cards with picture must be presented both at the ticket booth and at the evening performance. Due to students obtaining tickets for non-students last semester, this policy has become necessary for all future Fine Arts Center productions according to Grant Elderton, ticket coordinator.

Session tickets for the remaining Workshop productions are still available.

Margaret Woodward, playing the title role of "Tosca" in the Opera Workshop's first production of the semester is shown here.

Peter, Paul and Mary Highlight 'Carnival'

by Sharon Beauchamp
Winter Carnival Editor

The highlight of the Winter Carnival will be a concert featuring Peter, Paul and Mary, a folk song trio consisting of Peter Yarrow, Paul Stookey and Mary Allin Travers.

AFTER TAKING his psychology degree at Cornell University, where he was an instructor in a folk ballad course, Peter Yarrow took his sensitive tenor voice and his guitar around New York with the Andy Theatre and the Neveg Group.

New York has always been home for Peter, who was born there in 1937. As a youth he studied violin before moving to the guitar, and when he wasn't playing he was developing a promising talent as a painter.

HIS TRAINING in psychology suggested a position with television research firm.

"At the last minute I decided it wouldn't work," he explained "I had been something of a heretic in college, but I had compromised for the sake of my education. If I had compromised any longer, I'd have only contempt for myself."

THE SECOND NAME in this famous trio is Paul Stookey. In addition to his steadfast baritone shoring up the three voices, dark and sinewy Paul Stookey adds a deft gift of mime and surprising sound effects to the lighter side of PETER, PAUL AND MARY.

As a stand-up comic he was the highest paid entertainer in the Village when manager Al Grossman decided Paul had the right blend of the trivial and profound to finish up his trio.

THIS WAS a long way from Birmingham, Mich., where Paul (also born in 1937) thumped an electric guitar for a high school rock 'n roll group on local TV, and' emceed his way through Michigan State University.

Scraping together $400, he hung himself on New York, which promptly absorbed his capital and gave him nothing in return.

"I LIVED for a week on $1.48," Paul reminisces. "on peanut butter, crackers and soup heated on a hot plate I put together from parts."

Then he landed a job with a chemical company and was getting managerial promotions, but without any satisfaction.

"I went down to the Village where I found profound things being said in less than profound ways," Paul continues. "I discovered underground."

MARY TRAVERES is a tall, willowy blonde with a tall willowy voice, who's been singing folk songs since her kindergarten class was taught by Charley Bailey.

"I went to a lot of New York progressive school," she explains, "where there's plenty of art and music and the like."

Born in Louisville, KY., in 1937, Mary came to New York with her parents, both newspaper people, after a Louisville paper went out of business.

"I loved to sing in my high school chorus, where I could really make a lot of noise, but now Peter has to quiet me down."

MARY SANG with teenage folk groups that, made it to Carnegie Hall twice and cut three records. "But I never dared to sing on my own," she says. "I was scared to death."

In 1961 in the Village, she met Paul Stookey, who got her up on the stage again. "Suddenly I was on my own," she recalls. "The first few times the whole stage shook. Then I got the feel of it. I was on my way."

MARY'S BROTHER, GROSSMAN had delayed his long-range hopes for a top trio until he found Mary. Then the group was on its way, too. "I found some beautiful things to be had from singing," Mary says of the trio. "It's been a real awakening."

Tickets for the concert, to be held February 12 in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse, will go on sale Monday Feb. 11. Seats and tickets for the concert and the dance will be available at booths set up around campus.

Contributions for the Annual Campus Chest drive may be "tossed" into the Y Center Wishing Pond. The pond, which is located in the foyer across from the information desk in the Y Center has been divided into five parts, one for each class. Students wishing to contribute to this drive may do so by tossing money into their class section in the pond.

Brave New World Reviewed . . .

A Pre-determined For Happiness In Huxley's Artificial Civilization

By Shirley Folkersen

Editor's Note: This is the second review of the American English Company's new book of the Year 1964, Brave New World. It is a graduate assistant in English from La Puente, Calif. She is an honors graduate in English and Physics from BYU.

In The Tempest Miranda anticipates her initiation into civilization and rejoices, "O brave new world, that has such people in it." Nearly one thousand years later, John, the Savage, uses the same words in the same situation, unaware of the irony of the phrase. For the world, the Brave New World of Aldous Huxley, is not the same one Shakespeare saw through Miranda. It is not even our own world, although there are some alarming similarities between them. No one is unhappy in the brave new world, for all are pre-determined to be happy, and amoral, greedy, and unfeeling, as well. Although these qualities aid an industrial economy, they disgust and finally destroy John.

THE CIVILIZATION which we meet through Bernard Marx and Lenina Crowne, and which John is introduced to later, is as much a surrogate, or artificial substitute, as most of the consumer goods used in it. The time, A.F. (After Ford) 632, reveals a major substitution: God has been removed and Henry Ford, father of mass production, is sitting in. All crosses have been truncated and now represent the "F" of the Model T Ford. Hedonism and orgy-porgy have replaced morality and religion; sexual morality is entirely inverted, with promiscuity a virtue and chastity a perversion, since "everyone belongs to everyone else."

The substitute for parents and the home is the Hatchery, where Ford is further deified by the assembly line techniques used to produce human beings. Embryos are grown in bottles and adapted by chemicals, heat, and amount of oxygen to whatever role they are destined to fill in life. Since no one owns his own body, it is not surprising that his personal ity and mind are not his own either. The embryos, rather than being allowed to develop individually, are tailored into any of five models, from the tall and intelligent Alpha to the dwarfish, morose Epsilon. Individuality is further lost by the huge number of identical lower class infants which are produced from a single egg.

AFTER THE CHILD is de-canted ("born" and "mother" are equally obscene words in the society), he is raised by the Hatchery, and conditioned by sleep electric shock and rewards to like and dislike whatever is suitable for his particular class and occupation. Soma, drug of blissful escape, later alleviates any tension or conflict.

As a result of conditioning and drugs, no strong feeling ever affects the individual; he has no family but a bottle, no religion but Fordian-materialism, no love but casual body contact. Society is stable and humans are stereotypes of happiness. This system of mass production of bodies and feelings is Huxley's most clever and terrifying invention.

EVEN MORE terrifying is the underlying reason for all the warping and pruning of personality. The emphasis on happiness and the goal of making every person fit his role perfectly and thus be perfectly happy is only an extension of materialism. The truth is, happy people are better workers and consumers. They are even better workers if their factory mates are their identical twin.

It is industry itself, and not even Ford, that runs the brave new world. Unhappy people can not keep industry going. By further conditioning of children toward conspicuous consumption, the products of industry are also taken care of.

THIS WRITELY humorous attack on materialism, industry

fixation, and the twin gods of pleasure and stability is a delightful read. Huxley is always witty, and often profound. His artistry shows in such well handled parts as counterpart between a tour of the hatchery, where conditioning is explained, and a conversation in the girls' dressing room, where conditioned beliefs in promiscuity triumph over a drift toward monogamy.

IT IS SURPRISING how little this book has aged in thirty-three years. Only the lack of rockets, jets, and nuclear power seems short range in vision. Other aspects seem almost prophetic. Tragic seems at a good step toward secure, and pleasure seeking is on the upgrade. People can be conditioned or directed by manipulating certain areas of their brains as with hypnosis.

Conformity and mass media are making minds, if not bodies, more similar. The peak of our worst abuses of industrial domination and insidious advertising was passed sometime after The Hidden Persuaders, but the problem is still with us. Huxley has exposed major flaws in our own society by projecting and enlarging them in Brave New World.

CRITICISMS of the book are minor. The Ford-God substitution, swearing "Ford" making the sign of the T on one's stomach and time by the year of our Ford gets too strained to be clever. The characters are not whole or living personalities, but one might argue that this is typical in the brave new world.

The plot is needlessly complicated by John's being the Hatchery-Director's son, although the situation which results is hilariously funny. In its primary role, as a vehicle of social comment, this book is excellent. As almost too clear a vision of the future and a satiric investigation of our own civilization, it is classic.

Songfest '65 Notes New Additions

"Sugar and Spice" is the theme for the annual all-school musical competition in "Songfest" for 1965 according to Mary Allred, chairman.

THE THEME was chosen because it would provide a broad area, originality and applicability to music. Miss Allred commented that an early start in preparations would be to the advantage of all groups planning to participate.

"Songfest" is being handled by the Y Center Productions Guild this year for the first time. Other differences for the '65 production, i.e.: (1) a greater number of organizations have been invited to participate; (2) professional people in the world of music have been invited as judges; and (3) a greater expansion of semi-finals is planned.

OTHER CHANGES include (4) a special audience Sweepstakes Trophy; and (5) a grand finale, including all participating groups, which conclude the production.

Traditional awards given will include first place trophies to each of the Men's, Women's, and Mixed Divisions.

Applications are due Feb. 12, in Ray Goodwin's office, fourth floor, Y Center, according to Wally Siddmore, enlistment chairman. Songs are due by March 5.

Middy Music to Feature 'Transatlantics'

Middy Music at Middy will feature a percussion ensemble in the "Transatlantics" jazz set according to Jacob Bossett as Middy coordinator. THE BI-WEEKLY recitals are presented at noon in the Ball Hall of the Harris Fine Arts Center with no admission charge for all interested students and general public. Bossett's "Sinfonia No. 1" for two violas will be performed during the first half of the recital with a large percussion ensemble conducted by Robert Campbell, percussion ensemble leader.

THE LATTER half of the program will be contemporary jazz by the "Transatlantics." The compositions of John Arden, a student of music at BYU, the octet is composed of Lloyd, pianist, Robert Campbell, bass, Gaylord Durland, trumpet, and Ward, trombone, Dennis Lewis, alto saxophone, tenor, Paul Bettendorf, baritone and Jay Bettendorf, bass. According to Prof. Richard E. Smith, staff contemporary jazz director, "this will be an outstanding jazz production which will appeal to all students and equally to jazz lovers."

hundreds of Negroes Arrested...

Racial Tension Climbs In Alabama

SELMA, Ala., (AP)—Negroes arrested by the hundreds Wednesday as racial tension heightened in Alabama. More than 300 were arrested at Selma in the last 500 were arrested in Marion, 30 miles away.

More than 1,500 have been since Monday, and at least 1,200 since Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. began leading a civil rights campaign at Selma days ago.

Since the long, hot summer of 1963 has so many been arrested in connection with racial trouble, about 3,000 were arrested in Birmingham that summer.

The arrests in the two West Alabama communities Wednesday came about the same time. Demonstrations at Selma were in support of a voter registration drive. Those arrested at Marion were protesting the earlier arrest of about 15 other civil rights workers.

A voter registration campaign has been under way in both Dallas and Marion (Marion) since.

Homemaking Experience Now Offered

The Department of Housing (Home Management) announced that the Home Management course 370 will be open to students who may not have had the prerequisite classes. It are not majors in Home Management Education.

THE COURSE is on a block basis with the student spending up to five weeks in residence. Arrangements for living in the dorms should be made with Mrs. B. Bastian as soon as possible, since enrollment is limited. Fee for the class is $40 which covers care of housing, food, and entertainment costs. Space is available for the second block spring semester, from March to April 14.

ANY GIRL who is interested in taking this practical course should contact the Home Management Dept., 2246 in the Smith Family Living Center for more information.

'Sunshine Satellite Zips Into Orbit Information To Help Astronomers

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A "Sunshine Satellite" which creates its own private solar eclipses vaulted into orbit Wednesday to take the pulse of the sun.

ITS SENSITIVE instruments are to provide the best information yet on the seething sphere of hot gases and how its turbulent thermonuclear energy controls what happens on Earth and other planets.

From its findings, astronomers may piece together clues about the history of the Solar System. Scientists may learn more about radiation dangers facing astronauts who journey deep into space.

The satellite, officially named OSO-2 for Orbiting Solar Observatory, boomed into space atop a three-stage Delta rocket which darted away from Cape Kennedy right on schedule. Launch director for Robert Gray said the Delta made a textbook flight and shoved the craft into orbit about 350 miles above the Earth.

OSO-2 IS the second of eight similar satellites the National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to launch to map the Sun throughout an 11-year solar cycle. OSO-1 was fired into orbit in 1962.

Among ingenious new experiments on the satellite was a device capable of simulating artificial eclipses of the Sun. Called a coronagraph, it is the disc the size of a half dollar which perches

BYU Drill Teams Leave For Tucson

BYU's two AFROTC drill teams, along with the Angel Flight drill team, will travel this weekend to the Tucson Sunshine City Drill Meet, the largest in the United States, at Davis-Monthan AFB.

THE DRILL TEAMS, commanded by Capt. Majors Saade Macgregor and Leonard Carson, will leave Thursday night from Hill AFB aboard a KC-97 transport for southern Arizona. The Angels, under the direction of Angel Major Paula Austin, will leave Thursday by bus for the meet.

All three drill teams have been working two hours a day on their routines for several months in preparation for this trip.

es on the end of a two-foot boom.

When the "Sunshine Satellite" is properly pointed, the disc acts like the Moon and blots out the Sun to two of the measuring instruments. The instruments then observe the Sun's corona—the brilliant gaseous halo of light which surrounds it during an eclipse.

The corona cannot be seen because of the bright illumination resulting from the 28 million-degree temperatures which boil in the atomic furnace at the Sun's center. During an eclipse, the illumination is reduced considerably and activity in the corona can be observed.

NATURAL ECLIPSES—the darkening of the Sun when the Moon passes between it and Earth—are infrequent and last only for brief periods. Ground-based coronagraphs do not obtain a clear look because they must peer through the distorting heavy part of the Earth's atmosphere. Thus, little is known about the mysterious corona.

Scientists hope OSO-2 will provide "Atomic Fingerprints" of both the main body of the Sun and the corona. The satellite is to measure various radiation wavelengths and note the changes as they pass from the main body through the corona.

Snow King - Queen Will Be Selected; Winter Carnival

One of the highlights of Winter Carnival will be the selection of a Snow King and Queen, to be chosen on the basis of personal interviews, sports competition and student vote.

THE PERSONAL interviews will take place on February 3 and 4. Those interviews will determine the 16 semifinalists.

Sports competition will be held on February 6 at Park City at 9 a.m. Each candidate will participate in one sport. Results of these events will determine the 6 finalists.

EACH MEMBER of the student body will have the opportunity to cast a vote for Snow King and Queen on February 9 and 10.

ers were ordered to stand by for possible use either in Selma, Marion, or—as Maj. John Cloud of the patrol said—"anywhere they might be needed."

At Marion, a state patrol officer said about 500 of those arrested were sent to Camp Selma, a nearby state prison camp.

Blue helmeted state troopers and sheriff's deputies cordoned the demonstrators around the Perry County courthouse and around the jail across the street.

Crowds of Negroes were locked inside a wire fence surrounding the jail and others were hemmed in against a wall of the courthouse.

GROUPS OF WHITE persons watched curiously, but they were not involved in any incidents.

The demonstrators arrested at Marion were protesting the arrest of 15 Civil Rights workers on charges of trespassing after warning.

Same Freshmen Ups And Downs Face 800 At Semester Break

Beanie cap sales soared again during the semester break, as over 800 new freshmen and transfer students migrated to the BYU campus.

TO GREET the new arrivals were studentbody officers, President Ernest L. Wilkinson and various other administrative leaders, and a number of volunteer students who gave the lion's share of orientation to the new comers in the recently instigated Y-Group program.

Miss Addie Jean Furhman recruited the Y-Group leaders and after several afternoon jam sessions, turned them loose with the new students armed with newly printed health center forms, college propaganda, and name tags.

MOST ROOMS in the Y-Center were filled with the 20-man teams to answer questions, lecture and point out campus dos and don'ts.

Social life for the new students wasn't neglected. Wake-up breakfasts and dances were held, special rates in the game rooms, and free admission to the studentbody dances were all extended.

COMPLICATED by a high school invasion, the Y-Group toured the campus, Y-Center, and scene of Monday and Tuesday's movie, the Tumblehouse. Biggest question getter of the orientation was procedure and the actual fatality rate during registration.

FROM "LOST and found" to Stela 3, and back to the dramatic arts theater, the groups trudged. A few of the hardier took the "easy" way by standing atop the Y-Center and shouting directions above the air conditioning system, a 50 mph wind and rain storm.

Receptionist Positions Open at ASB

Applications for receptionists for the fourth floor Student Body Offices are being taken the rest of this week.

INTERESTED COEDS may sign up for an interview by signing the interview sheet located at the receptionist's desk inside the doors on the fourth floor of the Y Center, and filling out an application form located at the same place.

Typing ability is preferred for those applying. Questions may be directed to Lynda Richards at 371-5033.

Fresh asparagus the year round is no trick thanks to the modern jet set of vegetables. Getting the first class treatment, sans cinemascopie, this asparagus is garden fresh. Adding a refreshing sparkle to the tender stalks is one of several new butter base spreads using such novelties as chives, mustard and dull seasonings.

First Class Asparagus Flights Insure BYU Dinner Freshness

Wooshing people through the ether atmosphere at 600 miles an hour is commonplace today, we're even doing it with cargo. Huge jetliners with a load of 90,000 pounds, built for fast loading and unloading, are to cross the continent in about five hours, recently began operations.

AMONG THE JETS' most pampered "passengers" are crates and crates of asparagus, sped to market so swiftly the dew is barely on their tips.

While New Jersey, Washington, Massachusetts, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Maryland supply us with asparagus their season, it is California which is the giant in the field.

CALIFORNIA maid Judy Nelson, a junior in French from northern California, has found asparagus to be a refreshing treat in cooking. Sparkling seasonings reads top off her vegetable sheen.

HOW TO COOK FRESH ASPARAGUS

2 to 2 1/2 lbs. fresh asparagus
1 teaspoon salt
1-inch boiling water

Wash asparagus. Break off stalk as far down as it snaps easily. Remove scales with a knife and wash again to remove sand. Place in a saucepan with salt and 1-inch boiling water. Bring to boiling point and cook 5 minutes without cover. Cover and cook 13 minutes or until asparagus is crisp-tender. Remove from heat and drain if necessary. Serve with one of the following sauces.

YIELD: 6 servings.

CHIVE MAYONNAISE

Blend 2 tablespoons chopped chives and 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice into 1 cup mayonnaise. Serve over hot cooked asparagus or on fresh asparagus salad.

YIELD: 1 cup.

Wattsmen Minus Hill and Kramer Tackle Slow-Moving Marquette

Strange isn't it? You can win two tough road trippers handily and drop on the national polls, while the top tenners can go down and still remain up.

THE COUGARS RECENTLY returning from a successful road trip to the Air Force Academy and Denver University will tackle a tough Marquette team that is riding high from a win over the St. Johns which is currently in the top ten.

BYU showed a few disbeliefers that they could score on the road when they hit for 110 against the Air Force and 96 in Denver the following night. The Cats raised their game point averages from 95.5 to 96.4 for the season and should remain as the top offensive team in the nation for the fourth straight week.

MARQUETTE ON THE other hand has never been really scored against and so the Cougar charges have another goal to shoot for when the Warriors jog on to the floor Thursday night. Only one team, Loyola of Chicago, has scored more than 80 points against the Marquette bunch to date this season and this indicates their joy in slowing down usual Cougar tempo.

The Wattsmen will, however be without the services of two of their many stars. Gary Hill re-injured his knee against the Air Force and there is the possibility that he will be sidelined for several weeks. This week in practice forward Steve Kramer twisted his ankle and will not be able to rejoin the team before the weekend's slate.

THE FACT THAT five BYU players scored in double figures on the road trip is not unusual but when a closer look is taken it is phenomenal that they manage to continue to do this. When players are jockeyed around as the Cats are, it is amazing that any of them score in doubles.

And furthermore, any derogatory comments about the great All-America candidate John Fairchild should be taken back. Against the Falcons of the Air Force, John scored a point a minute. He played about 20 minutes and scored as many points. Lets see Wayne Estes match this.

A twisted ankle has sidelined Cougar forward Steve Kramer this week, a serious blow to the Brigs as they try to extend winning streak. Photo by Tony Atkinson.

Cougar Collapse Tourney Crowns Many Champs

by Dave Fitzpatrick
Universe Sportswriter

BYU students released those myriad of pent-up emotions over finals week recently as the Cougar Committee sponsored its first annual "Cougar Collapse Tournament."

TABLE TENNIS KINGPIN was Chrusank Thanyakong while David Stringham tasted sweet victory in the chess tournament. The United States Chess Federation recently rated the Cougar chessman with 1970 points. This puts him at the top of pawn heap in the Intermountain West. A rating of 2200 or higher is considered professional.

As a result of Stringham's win, he will lead the BYU Chess Team into the Region 13 Intercollegiate Recreation Tourney at Albuquerque, N.M. on Feb. 12 and 13.

RON RATES AND Marty Walker topped a rugged field in the Moonlight Mixed Doubles Bowling Tourney, totaling a 377 for two games to earn the laurels. Second place went to Darrell Darrington and Virginia Lewis (318) while Dick Stratton and Toddy Rohlock took third with a 311 total.

In preparation for the upcoming Associated Colleges and Universities Regional Tournament several BYU table tennis exhibitions have been set up. Friday afternoon will see Gary Mohler and Bryan Beckstrand pitted against Jim Waycusey and Jack Thurgood at 5 p.m.

THE COUGAR bowling squad will take on the Provo High all-stars Saturday at 10 a.m. at Regal Recreation Center, 12th N. and University. Concurrently, the staff bowlers from BYU will meet Provo High's ladies' squad.

BYU keelers will be up against some rough opposition in this one. The Bulldog squad boasts Ray Cambell, a junior, who pocketed the National Explorer Scouts Bowling Tourney with a 732 scratch score for an average of 244.

ayer of the Week...

Four Honored For Cage Playmaking

by Roger McVein
Universe Sportswriter

In the past three weeks the Cougars have been running, jumping and still running. Scores and have come out of these varied tests with a fine record.

IF LONE COUGAR loss during this period was at the hands of the Arizona Wildcats. The Cougars went on the next night, to beat the Sun Devils of ASU. Throughout that set series there was a man who had the habit of giving the Arizona fits.

His name: Bob Quinney. He led to be one of the hottest stars on the courts both nights. In ASU games he pumped in points and for the two nights added 34 counters and 11 rebounds.

JOE IS A senior in accounting, has lettered for two years. In 1964 he led the team in free throw percentage. He has been regular for three years now, although he doesn't always play. He is one of Coach Watts' let weapons. A quiet man, he always be counted on in big plays and is one of the shooters on the squad.

In the next week of action against the Utes rampaging in Salt Lake and they went with their ears pinned to the wall, 98-67. From that emerged two of the regulars to take over the spot-players of the Week: Mike Gardner and Steve Kramer.

Each of these lads canned 15 points in the contest while Gardner grabbed 8 rebounds and never pulled off 11 caroms. Steve was sterling on defense helped to make the fast break move well during the night.

ARDNER WAS player of the Week earlier in the season has been his consistent old the whole year. He has a big will to win and always comes up with a good game against the Utes.

Kramer, or "Archie" as he is called by his cohorts, is a junior at Sandy. He performed as an Slater from Jordan High and led a starter's berth as a sophomore. He led the squad in field goal percentage last year.

and also has the dubious distinction of leading the squad in personal fouls.

DURING THE LAST week, the Cats met two strong Colorado quintets in the persons of the Air Force Academy and Denver. The Cougars came back with two big wins and were led in both efforts by Big John Fairchild. The lanky 6-8 pivotman dropped in 46 points in both games and led the team in rebounds.

This is the second time Big John has received the honor and he is just raring to go against Marquette and Utah State this week.

"We are on our way now, we want to win and we know how to," concluded Fairchild. Could be he's right.
